Life Cover, Income Protection, or Both? | Key Considerations for Couples | When to Review Your Life Insurance | Understanding Life Insurance Underwriting

Life cover and income protection offer financial security in different ways. Understanding their benefits helps you decide if you need one or both.

1. Life Cover Insurance: Pays a lump sum to your loved ones if you pass away or are diagnosed with a terminal illness. It can cover debts, living costs, and education. Premiums depend on your age, lifestyle, job, and cover amount.
2. Income Protection Insurance: Replaces up to 70% of your income if you can't work due to illness or injury, helping cover everyday expenses—even for non-work-related conditions.
3. Why Consider Both? Together, these policies provide broader protection—especially during major life changes like marriage or starting a family. Consider your financial responsibilities and how each policy could support your loved ones if times get tough.
4. Anton's Story: Anton, a 45-year-old engineer, had both covers. After an accident left him unable to work for 18 months, income protection paid 70% of his salary, keeping his family secure.
